JUST WHEN YOU THOUGHT THE GREAT MIGRATION WAS OVER IN THE MASAI MARA – THINK AGAIN!

With around 1.5 million wildebeest continuing their epic migration back into the Serengeti during September and October, a bigger and more diverse migration has just begun... the annual bird migration from Europe and Asia, which could exceed 100 million birds in total!

Already, thousands of stunning European Bee-eaters have been recorded on their journey through the Mara soon to be joined by thousands of White Storks, many hundreds of huge Steppe Eagles and Lesser Spotted Eagles from Asia, and supported by tens of thousands of swifts, swallows, warblers and other colourful gems from the northern hemisphere.

And with our resident ornithologist, bird photographer and author on site,

Naibor is the place to be throughout September and October for the REALLY Great Migration.
